Table 1. Axial coding of the research findings

| Categories and concepts	Indications
1- Structural factors
Development of infrastructure and equipment	- Development of infrastructure and equipment - Easy access to sports venues
Development of sport for all organizations	- Development of sport for all organizations - Development of nongovernmental organizations - Development of sport for all fields - Widespread interest in sport for all
2- Management factors
Contributing public in decision making and monitoring of sport for all	- Providing condition for monitoring on sport for all by people - Providing condition for making decision on sport for all by people - Increasing social partnerships
Planning for different regions and ethnicities	- Demographic differences of individuals - Geographic and climatic conditions
3- Human factors
Development of social awareness	- Increasing knowledge and awareness of people - Development of sports science - Education of society - New social problems - Paying attention to the health
Social welfare development	- Improving the social welfare of the people - Changes in the lifestyle of most people - New needs of society - Personality characteristics of individuals
Improving trust and social justice	- Trust among people and people with officials - Development of citizenship rights and social justice - Attention to the ethical and cultural dimension of sport
Social Communication Development	- Development of social communication - Residence status
4- Economic factors
Private sector participation	Private sector participation - Economic development as a result of sport for all
5- Environmental complexity
Increasing advertising and information	- Development of communication media - Development of advertising in sport for all
Making favorable legal conditions	- Instructions, Programs and Rules - Acceptance by reference groups - Political and social conditions of Iran

Figure 1. Theoretical Pattern of the contexts of social participation in Sport for all in Iran